In a tradition similar the Galt Skating Races, the Cambridge Classic Mile is designed to bring together elementary, middle school, and high school runners for a unique athletic and cultural experience.

At the Classic Mile a young aspiring athlete in grade three can share the track with a future Olympian. Canadian running legends Reid Coolsaet, Nate Brannen, and Carmen Douma-Hussar have all raced on the historic track at GCI.

For the 2012 event, there are no registration fees for Early Bird entries to the event. Simply register your team on-line by May 6th and there are no fees.

Some coaches may choose to select runners based on a qualifying time or regional race.

All registered teams may also field a 4x400m co-ed relay team.
